

COUNCILLOR'S CORNER

The turkey is almost gone, and the mountain of treats from Halloween are just starting to get dug into. A perfect time to highlight some of the community activities coming up in the next little while. Young and old can engage in these events and most are free to enjoy.

November 11 will bring the annual Remembrance Day ceremony. Hosted by the local churches, this event has been growing every year. A great, local way to pay respect to those who serve and have served in uniform. November 23 brings the ever popular Light Up Blackfalds. Come out and see what the CSD staff have put together this year. Hot on the heels of that is the Breakfast and Lunch with Santa on the following Saturday. Tickets are almost sold out and can be purchased at Eventbrite.

We are always thrilled that the CP Holiday Train will stop here in the evening and this year they won't disappoint. It will be here December 6 at 8:05 PM. That's a Friday, so maybe the little ones can stay up a little later and check it out. To end off the year will be the New Year's Eve Family Free Skate.

For the skater that wants more ice time, there is the Jim Hurley Free Skate every Sunday evening from 6:15 to 7 PM. On Wolf Creek School Division PD days, there is an afternoon skate for a small charge.

Plenty to do and I didn't even mention the local markets and other local activities to help you get into a festive spirit.

Stay safe and enjoy the wind up to the year.
